The AVG banquet, 1969 at Ojai, provided an opportunity for more conversation, tall tale-telling and comparison of midrifts and hairlines.

Colonel Tom Stafford Joins Flying Tigers For 1969 Ojai Reunion

Colonel Tom Stafford, USAF Commander of the Apollo 10, was the honored guest at the 1969 AVG-CNAC bash at Ojai, California.

Colonel Stafford showed film taken on his historic flight and gave a vivid description of the famous adventure in space.

Stafford remarked that he was envious of the Tiger group and the job they had done.

Tigers, in turn, well could have wished one of the world's outstanding pilots might have been one of their famous group.

As a demonstration of their pride in Stafford's accomplishments, the Group presented him with the AVG Pilot Trophy for outstanding service.

ON 5 JULY 1969 AT 1500 HOURS

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

ATTENDEES: 39 Charter members whose names appear on the Waiver of notice attached hereto.

President Dick Rossi called the meeting to order.

Bob Prescott made a motion that reading of the minutes of the ninth meeting be waived. The motion was seconded and unanimously passed.

Treasurer, Bob Smith, gave the finance report. A motion was made, seconded and unanimously passed to accept the report as presented.

New Business — President Rossi introduced Colonel Owen F. Clarke, Executive Director of the San Diego Aerospace Museum. Colonel Clarke gave a slide presentation of the museum's facilities and then described the plan for building an accurate AVG-Flying Tiger exhibit and also to build a comprehensive historical reference file pertaining to the AVG's history and accomplishments. Colonel Clarke introduced Weston C. Williams, a museum volunteer worker and cousin of Ken Merritt, a pilot in AVG 2nd Squadron. Mr. Williams' sole job at the museum is to bird-dog the AVG project.

R. T. Smith made a motion that we support the AVG project at the San Diego Aerospace Museum. The motion was seconded and discussion followed. An amendment to the motion was made as follows. The executive committee should study the project, as proposed by Colonel Clarke, work out details and initiate a master plan for the AVG to follow. The motion, as amended, was passed unanimously.

President Rossi opened the floor for nomination of officer. A motion was made for Rossi for president. The motion was seconded, nominations were closed, and the motion was unanimously approved. A motion was made for the same slate of officers for the following two years. The motion was seconded and unanimously passed. The slate of officers is:

A motion was made to make Anna Chennault an honorary member of the board. The motion was seconded and unanimously passed. The floor was open for discussion of plans for the meeting place in 1971. San Diego was proposed if the Aerospace Museum's AVG exhibit is completed for dedication. A motion was made that the executive committee study the progress made by the museum on the AVG project, and based on this progress, make a decision to have the 1971 Reunion in San Diego. If the executive committee is not satisfied with the progress, the Reunion should be scheduled at Ojai for 1971. The motion was seconded and unanimously passed.

Chuck Older presented details of discussions on Frank Metasavage's dishonorable discharge. It has been proposed that Frank be reinstated in the AVG membership because of an alleged misjustice. A lengthy discussion ensued. Older made a motion that the executive committee review the problem and recommend appropriate action. The motion was amended to have Frank Metasavage submit his version of the facts to the executive committee who would review these facts and also have them reviewed by members who were present at the incident in China which resulted in Frank's departure from the group in 1942. The motion as amended was seconded and unanimously passed.

Bob Prescott moved for adjournment, which was seconded and passed.

Some of the guys who couldn't make it to the get-together in Ojai sent notes or wires. What we're trying to figure out is whether Snuffy was on the level about working, or if all those STOPS were cries for help from the teletype operator?

By the way, Snuffy says if any of the oldtimers want to get together informally and unofficially in '70, it has been suggested that we meet at Snuffy's resort in Northern Wisconsin. Anybody interested drop Rode a note. This is just a get-together, of course, not the official reunion, which will be held in '71.

Mah Friends — When we are putting the magazine together on a table in the lunchroom at the FTL home office, Eric Shilling got to remembering stories about some of the men in the pictures. He looked at the picture of Al Mah (lower righthand photo). "There's a character," Eric said. "He lives in Canada. His sister was in Canton during the war and Al decided to get her out. He didn't speak a word of Chinese, but dressed himself up as a coolie and went through the Japanese lines and all the way to Canton and brought his little sister back."

The editor, a female, voted Al as the pick-up service she would best like to have get her out of Canton.

The 1969 AVG/CNAC reunion at Ojai is now past history — but it was a real bash. There was an excellent turnout, although we still miss those who do not make it. We were all set to welcome Doc Bruer and “Snuffy” Smith for their first reunion and then they did not show up.

There was the usual amount of snafus, goof-ups, and oversights which made the meeting seem routine. However, from the comments and mail it seems that almost everybody had a great time.

The major part of the gang arrived at Ojai for lunch on Thursday and festivities got underway. In fact, a group went up on Wednesday to get a head start.

Thursday evening started off with a hay ride and steak fry. This was followed by a session of Western music and square dancing. Doc Richards has not lost any of his old zip. He out-danced everyone for three days.

After the dinner was over, a joint gift from AVG/CNAC was made to Bob Prescott. He received a beautiful elephant-hide golf bag, PLUS a live donkey to carry it around the course for him! What else do you give the man who has everything?

A few more arrived on Friday to join the gang. The CNAC business meeting was held Friday morning and Bill Pawley was elected president. A full report on that will be forthcoming to all CNAC'ers from the secretary.

The rest of the day was filled with golf, swimming, tennis, horseback riding, lunch, swapping lies and possibly a little drinking.

In the evening there was another cocktail party, followed by the CNAC banquet. Mr. Herb Fisher, former Curtiss test pilot of P-40 and C-46 fame, was the principal speaker.

More people, more sports and possibly a little drinking took place Saturday. The AVG business meeting was in progress when Colonel Tom Stafford, Commander of Apollo 10, arrived. We took a break to greet him and he said a few words.

As usual, the meeting was conducted strictly by Robert's Rules of Order and Parliamentary Procedure. More on that from Secretary Rodewald.

By then, it was time for the evening cocktail party. This one was sponsored by the Flying Tiger Line and was followed by the AVG banquet.

Bob Prescott was master of ceremonies and did a masterful job. We might keep him on. His introductions were masterpieces — of an alcoholic sort.

Following dinner there were short addresses by the Chinese Consul General, Jimmy & Joe Doolittle, Lloyd Nolan, Tommy “The Cork” Corcoran, our principal speaker, Bill Pawley and our trophy recipient, Colonel Tom Stafford.

Along with his talk, Colonel Stafford showed us some of his personal film taken on his trip around the moon. It was a most exciting address.

We also looked at movies of the 1967 reunion, which were not so exciting. However, they were saved by Prescott's commentary.

As usual, “Pappy” Quinn did all the registering and collecting from the gang, to keep us out of financial trouble. Our thanks to him for all the work — and loot.

The usual amount of help also came from Len Kimball in helping to prepare for the meeting, so finally this time we gave him a little token of our appreciation — a joint AVG/CNAC presentation.

A presentation from the AVG was made to Don Rodewald to express our appreciation for all these many years of work in helping to keep these meetings going.

We also gave a wedding present from the AVG to Mr. & Mrs. Richard Randles (or our own Joan Petach and her new husband).

The night ended with dancing and possibly a little drinking. Sunday morning, everybody got up and took their hangovers home — to store them till the next meeting.

Bill Pawley, Anna Chennault, Herb Fisher, Robbie Roberts, Pappy Quinn and Dick Rossi. Mrs. C. just had been given her official membership card in CNAC.

CNAC Reports From Ojai '69.....

Our Fourth of July Convention of this year was a real boudacious affair and a tremendous time was had by all. It was noticeable that the hangar flying got better and better, the stories bigger and bigger, the trip across the hump longer and longer. It was also noticed that there seemed to be less jump in the step of many of those who attended. However, in spite of all these indignities the Convention was warmer and warmer and better than ever.

It was a real pleasure to relinquish the presidency to our great fellow, Bill Pawley, and I know that under his leadership CNAC is going to grow and grow. In fact, at one of his suggestions and one we have already instigated is the Historical Association in which many rupees were collected. Already a program is in the works to get it under way. To briefly bring up to date all those who were not there, we would like to have your cooperation . . . everybody's cooperation in fact. If you will write any and all stories you can think of that would be of interest to folks, please send them in, because what we want to do is come out with a newsletter at regular intervals including these stories and at a later date compile all these stories into a book that can be published which, it was felt, will be of great interest to everybody.

Since Bill Pawley is our new president and is also acting as our editor, send all stories and all information to William D. Pawley, Suite 711, 100 Biscayne Towers, Biscayne Boulevard, N., Miami, Florida 33132. Bill has all the facilities for getting this going and is already set up and under way to start publication. The only thing he needs is information from you and me. So, get the messages in the mail, don't put it off, do it today. By the way, AVG Buddy, this goes for you, too. We will take any information we can get. We are all in the same family so let's keep the family circle going.

There are many stories that will soon be lost if we don't put them down.

We surely did miss all the fellas and gals who missed the reunion. It was a real good one, with a Western Cookout to recognition night each night with key speakers Bill Pawley, Former Ambassador to Brazil, Under Secretary of State, the fellow who started the Flying Tigers, and the first president of CNAC, Herb Fisher, who was chief test pilot to Curtis and did the test work on the first P-40's and the first C-46's. He is now a member of our organization and will be a real plus to us. The night with Tom Stafford and the presentation of the pictures he took of Apollo 10 made the reunion a tremendous one.

You will be getting dates on the next reunion soon. Hope you will plan now to be there as they really are getting better and better every year.

We need you and we want you.

the AVG Pilot Award*

IN MEMORIAM

Hank Geselbracht passed away on July 15. We lost a staunch buddy. He was a member of the Executive Committee, and a hard-working AVG'er. A number of Tigers served as pall bearers: Bob Neale, Tex Hill, R. T. Smith and Rode.

To Hank's wife, Claudia and his fine son, Ray, we extend our deepest sympathy for our mutual loss.

Oliver Glenn and Gene Powers

OFFICIAL STATE MARKER PLACED AT BIRTHPLACE

On April 10 of this year, a historic plaque was placed at the birthplace of General Claire Lee Chennault and Jack Cornelius at Commerce, Texas. Jack attended the ceremony with Anna Chennault, George Paxton's son, Bob King and his wife, and Rode.

Another monument to the General will be erected by the contributions of mementos and incidents for the San Diego Aerospace Museum by every participating Tiger. (See attached memo.)

Mister Smith!

Dear Mr. Laughlin:

The newsprint has it that the cost of hand tools for gouging around in the surface of the moon cost $45,000. I consider this a bit shylockish on account of all they had was a small shovel, a sledge hammer, a claw like picker-upper and maybe a pick and rake.

I went down to Poe's Garden and Hardware Store to compare costs and found I could buy the lot for $14.76, tax included.

All this means to me only one thing. Our government is not doing one solitary thing to combat inflation. Or there is a helluva high living hardware middleman.

Now I have nothing against these interplanetetary junkets. I am all for them, and looking forward to the time in the next few years when we can sink an American flagstaff into a quarter section of choice martian real estate. And eventually Venus and Jupiter.

As a matter of fact I get an advanced case of hollow stomach and chill bumps when I contemplate the adventure. Makes me think this country is worth while when we can accomplish feats that require teamwork, imagination, bravery and dedication of the highest order.

But they send a monkey, an undedicated, non-teamworking, lackadaisical monk into orbit.

So, I have a suggestion. Let's send a substitute who would do it for free. Let's send a name synonymous with Americanism. A prolific Smith. One can certainly be spared. The telephone book is dedicated to Smiths. They could have been the original Mormons. But a Robert Smith — better than a John or Ebenezer Smith, and particularly a Robert Smith who is a rated ex-peaforty pilot of distinction.

That's what I mean about inflation. A volunteer who could outmonk the monk; tools at Poe's Hardware.

According to a comprehensive personal survey about the only non-volunteer I could find would be Eldredge Cleaver.

Ted Kennedy would like to go just to get out of the world for long enough to erode the public memory.

I'll cast my vote for a Smith over a Kennedy any November 4th. May I have your response to this suggestion. We can all cut taxes.

Very truly yours,

C. Laughlin

Box 1674, Coral Gables, Fla., 33134

Am in receipt of yours of 24 July, and perceive that the effects of a strong summer sun on your so-called thinking processes have not improved your condition.

Among other things, you question the wisdom of spending a mere $45,000 on the tools with which our intrepid spacemen were to retrieve samples of rock, sand, and other forms of moon-crap. Imbecile! These tools had to be carefully designed, then constructed in a germ-free environment, lest they contaminate the moon. Yet you, in your infinite ignorance, would suggest that NASA drop in to Poe's Garden & Hardware shop and buy contaminated substitutes. I will grant that the price of Poe's looks more attractive, but think of the Florida germs, bacteria, etc., which undoubtedly would have found their way to the moon. It is a well-known fact that Florida is more infested with vermin of all varieties than any other state, and many specimens can be seen clearly without the aid of a microscope. I mention no particular species by name, but I'm sure you get the idea.

Now, about the monkey you mentioned being sent up on a bio-medical research mission being undedicated, non-team working, and lackadaisical. I first read about this in TIME, and was positive that you had volunteered for the mission under an assumed name. The attributes, or lack of same, of the monkey so exactly fit your description, as I remember from AVG days, that it had to be you. Matter of fact, I wrote a song to commemorate the occasion, entitled "It had to be You," which seems to be catching on among the older generation although God knows it may never replace the currently popular "Soul," of which you have never been accused of having an over-abundance, even by your best friends, assuming you have any. Which is one helluva assumption!

I have to chuckle at your worries about inflation. We must continue to spend, spend, spend! If you don't believe this, ask any wife, or any Democrat. You infer you would rather have balanced budgets. What utter nonsense!

Garden tools from Poe's Hardware, yet? I say poo on Poe, and trust you'll pass that on to him. Should keep that cracker bastard in his place for a while.

As for your snide remarks about the Smiths taking up a fair percentage of the phone book, imagine what a traumatic experience it would be for people to leaf through that book and find several pages of Laughlins! They'd think the whole town was under water!

And, since you continue to impress me as someone coming into today's world from the Pleistocene age, (and fella, that was a long time ago), I must advise that your offer of a vote for a Smith over a Kennedy must be declined. I'm afraid if I ran for office and you would vote for me, then every other nut in the State or country might do the same. I base this on the fact that you represent the "average mentality" of the American public, and if you think that's a compliment it just shows how goddam average your mentality really is! And, if this country is so hard up for — the hell with it, bail out!

I would advise you to pay your back taxes before they catch up with you. Keep those cards and letters coming. I have a new 8 by 10 glossy for you if you send $1.00 to cover the cost of mailing, etc.

Very truly yours,

Hon. R. T. Smith

P.S. I see from your return address that you are still living in the Post Office. I do hope that some day you'll have a house, and an address which doesn't sound quite so much like taking advantage of our glorious Government. Have you thought of working?

Sir Smith:

Acknowledgement is made of your normally vituperative communication of 30 July.

May I suggest that you broaden your horizon a bit — deepen your perception — sharpen your retort — digest current events — analyze — think and think.

I may have to commend you to the McGoverns, the Birch Bayhs, the Vance Hartkes, the Percys, the Hubert Humphreys, the Stokely Carmichaels, the Ralph Abernathy's, the Rap Brown's, the Eldridge Cleavers and finally and best of all the Kennedys for an association wherein your particular talents are properly appreciated.

I will withhold a nomination for an association with the Kennedys — temporarily.

How is your swimming.

I have nominated Kennedy for a berth on the 1970 Olympic swimming team for his feat in swimming, fully clothed I presume, 250 yards through a strong tidal current one midnight last month.

Can you do that?

I must give consideration to your absence from this country for a number of years.

Are you now a Japanese?

Do you wear a size 36 kimono now? Do you ingest your calories via a pair of daintily held Elm slivers? Do you clop clop when you walk? Do you commute by motor bike?

As I recall the identity of a happy Japanese motor cyclist could always be determined by the number of bugs impaled on his teeth.

And are you a member of the pacifist group who claim to abhor war to the extent of committing private murder and arson?

As I remember the Smith of yesteryear he was a happy go lucky peaforthy pilot of some dubious aptitude who rambled around in the exhilarating skies of Southern China potting off at the enemy in bursts of uncontrolled enthusiasm.

With some degree of success. And notoriety. With fun. Which man are you today? Is your environment a happy one?

Very truly yours,

C. Laughlin

Mr. C. Laughlin
c/o Post Office Box 1674
Coral Gables, Fla.

Dear Mr. Laughlin:

Thank you (?) for your brilliant communique of 18 August. I note you are still living in the post office, and outside of the fact it may be handy as hell to buy stamps, doesn't the stink of the place sorta get to you after a while? Do you fill the ink pots, or has Florida discovered ball point pens? Seriously.

I didn't realize you would resort to "name dropping" in order to try to make a point, but you sure dropped some beauties, and I note with pride that you are at least one Florida cracker who is integrated when it comes to name-dropping. However, you failed to include Harry Steindorf, which only shows that you were not thinking.

As for the question on swimming, I find it difficult to keep my head above water these days even when I'm not in an overturned Oldsmobile. So far as your nomination of Teddy K. for a berth on the 1970 Olympic Swimming team is concerned, let me just say that unless they have changed the format, the next Olympic games will not be held until 1972. In Muenchin, Chermany, du Schweinhund! Ya?

In answer to your questions, the answers are; yes, no, no, no (bamboo), Yes (slop, no clop), no, and yes, of course I abhor war to the extent of committing private murder and arsen, but since these are private matters I would rather not discuss them with a Pecan like you. OK? Your final question, after some dubious remarks about my remarkable exploits in earlier days, asks "is your environment a happy one?" Well, it beats hell out of a post office, I guess, but we're soon to head back to the Land of the Fruits and Nuts, California, although I'm aware Florida has first claim on such a title.

Have you considered seeking psychiatric help?

Write when you get work,
Very truly yours,

R. T. Smith
